

Hikoi of a Poisoned Nation – Message to Police

First, let me state for the record this is not a personal attack on police, it is however a statement of truth.

My grandfather was a policeman, and a damn fine one. He served in the days when a policeman was able to make a sound moral decision to uphold the law and then carry it out. Nowadays, unfortunately, our legal system and the police have been extensively corrupted by their superiors and them in turn by the empire of poison that seeks to poison your children's future and our delicate food-webs - flora and fauna.

I have talked with many police officers - some of them quite high up in the pecking order, many of them understand our stance. I have asked them why they continue to ignore our repeated attempts to have these terrorists arrested. Their answer, sadly according to most, is that they are told what to do. They say they do not have a choice.

They all know that standing shoulder to shoulder with these terrorists, while they poison your water, your food and your children, is legally, ethically and morally wrong, but still they make the morally bankrupt decision to stand by and do nothing, or to help in the chemical warfare waged upon the citizens of NZ by their successive governments. The real reason they do this is simple....$$$$$

One would have to be forgiven for noticing the similarities here to the moral dilemma that the Nazi troops at the Jewish extermination camps were in during World War 2. When they also sat by and did nothing, or helped to slaughter Jews. Whether it be chlorine gas in a shower block or 1080 in your drinking water, It is still CHEMICAL WARFARE - an act of TERRORISM - against your fellow man. Shame on you!!!

The fact is we all have a free will. Think about, it Mr Policeman, would your daddy be proud of the decisions you make? Would your children be proud of the fact that you help to poison their future? Would your grandma be proud of you for helping to kill all those lovely native birds?

I know one thing, my grandfather would not be proud to be part of your ranks today.

We here at the Hikoi of a Poisoned Nation would be proud of you, though if you come join our hikoi and sign our petition.

Written by Alan Gurden and Emille Leaf – Hikoi of a Poisoned Nation